Karl Marquardt is a Principal in the firm's Financial Institutions Litigation and Regulation practice. His clients include Citi Personal Wealth Management, UBS Financial Services, Fidelity Investments, Morgan Stanley and Edward Jones. He is called upon to handle complex regulatory inquiries, internal investigations, unclaimed property audits and client litigation matters, and to provide risk and compliance counseling.

Formerly with Morgan Stanley, Karl has served in several different in-house roles. Most recently, Karl held a senior role in the firm's National Business Risk unit, where he managed the broker-dealer's Utah based Central Review Unit, its Chennai, India based e-mail review function, and was the Risk Department's project manager responsible for developing account review alerts used by the field to supervise retail accounts.

Prior to his position in Risk, Karl served as an attorney in Morgan Stanley's Client Litigation unit, where he represented the firm and its registered representatives in retail based regulatory and client litigation matters. Karl also served as an attorney in the Morgan Stanley U.S. Litigation unit, where he focused on representing the firm in regulatory matters before the SEC, FINRA and various federal and state regulators.

Karl also was formerly an in-house attorney at Citigroup, serving first as litigation manager for the bank's broker-dealer, and then as a member of the firm's Regulatory Enforcement Group, where he represented the firm's institutional, trading and retail businesses in regulatory investigations and examinations.

Prior to serving in-house, Karl worked for six years as an Associate on Bressler Financial Institutions team.

Karl's community and charitable endeavors include serving as President of Leonia Sports Boosters, Inc.; a member of the Board for Love of God Foundation, Inc.; Borough Councilman for Leonia, NJ from 2000-2004; as
