David V. Dorris is an associate attorney in the Litigation group. David's areas of experience include complex commercial litigation, business disputes, construction, labor and employment, trusts and estates matters, and securities litigation. David's previous experience also includes working for a nationwide construction supplier where he partnered with his clients and supported their business needs.

David's goal for each of his clients is to bring value to each of them through his counsel and partnership through any needs that may arise. David is focused on building long-term relationships with his clients and provides counsel to assist them in reaching their immediate objectives and future business goals.
